EHS Audits

The purpose of Pfizer’s Global Environment, Health and Safety (EHS) Audit program is to provide an objective assessment of the adequacy of the management of EHS risk at a site level.

Pfizer’s EHS audits add value by:

• Focusing on compliance with Pfizer EHS standards and regulatory requirements.
• Providing a comprehensive assessment of the adequacy of site risk management, including EHS and business continuity risks.
• Outlining a summary of site EHS performance to senior site and business line management, including identification of site management strengths and areas for improvement.
• Engaging site-level EHS professionals to audit at other facilities, maximizing technical knowledge across the network.
• Identifying “best practices and model programs” that other sites can replicate.
• Proposing solutions to close gaps identified during the audit process.
