Many women with breast cancer want to work after their diagnosis, but may find it challenging.¹

Here are some tools and resources to help these women – as well as employers/co-workers and healthcare professionals – navigate breast cancer in the workplace.